Madison

A nod to the 1940's for a sophisticated collaboration with a company that makes tailoring the exclusive element of its production. For Rossato, an authoritative reference in the international contract sector, Hangar Design Group has created extremely elegant furnishing accessories for exclusive environments. Exotic woods such as ebony and precious metals like nickel give added value to pieces that must be deemed unique, even if they are designed for a contract scale. Clean shapes and exact geometries give order to the containers and drawers that alternate with open spaces, thus adding extreme lightness to the volumes, in a perfect fusion of tradition and modernism. The original combination of the different materials, joined with the balance of the proportions and volumes, gives personality and formal rigour to timeless furniture.

Description

Available in two versions, the Madison container enhances the elegance of ebony through its shiny varnish in high-precision polyester, creating a perfectly brilliant effect, in contrast with the opaqueness of the camel-colored leather lining the open spaces. Feet and edges in metal with a black nickel finish.
